blood n bikinis game

I recommend this game because it is a nice old school Breakout with retro graphics and enhanced gameplay.

It is first starting easy so you can learn how it works and then you have the first enemies appearing on the level. The challenge is to hit them with the bouncing ball and the more you progress on the game and the more you have interesting enemies and levels.

Plus it has a lot of additional things (multiplayers, level editor, etc...) so that's good !. SO GOOD! 10/10

This game taught me to not take good games for granted. I have a new outlook on my game library because of this game.

Never buy it.. To be simple graphically, this games feels very comfortably realistic. The controls are simple and function like real hands, the old iron sights are straight and you have unlimited magazines. This game is FUN. I'd like to see the ability to pick up more weapons and more locations. The end point is pretty difficult to pass...I still haven't after two runs. Mainly cause once you die, you're dead.. start over. LOL

Very Fun! Highly Recommended!

SUPPORT EARLY ACCESS. So I "beat" the game in a few minutes, so there's that. The sound effects kind of weirded me out, as the goblins (at least I think they're goblins) sound like infants... or some kind of squeaky, rubber duck. The combat is very simple, and key bindings which are on the menu, don't actually do anything in game. There is a jump button. You can rebind it. You cannot jump in game.

Worst of all, this game is on Steam on the same degree as any finished product, but it is not. After beating any of the two levels, there is in game text that states "game is in development stage." Nowhere on the store page does Idea Cabin say that Relic Keepers is still in development. That's withholding information, not a feature that you will "add more content for free." Either slap it in right on the game description that the game is not finished, or put it up as an Early Access game.. Disclaimer: Bought on the Holiday sale for 75% off.

Victory at Sea is a pretty fun game; it's probably my best buy of the sale. It's not a particularly complicated game. It's a little more complex than what you would expect out of a mobile game, but not too much more. In spite of it's short comings though, it's a fun and surprisingly addictive game. It's also great for casual gaming. I find I can get at least one battle in before work each morning while waking up.

Vive: This is fun. It starts out too easy, then a couple levels are very hard, then it's easy again. It took me 1.5 hours to beat every level, including the bonus levels.. Autumn Night 3D shooter is a great old-school game.

The level design is okay. The weapons are varied, every single one feels different. The secrets are well-hidden and rewarding (you get a new weapon). The plot is almost non-existent, but I would argue that shooter like this doesn't really need one. The graphics is great like always in Sergey Bobrov's games.

Overall, I think that, if you like 3d shooters, you should definitely try this one out.. Program that harvests your brain cells among bitcoins. I think the negative reviews are a little bit harsh, this is a good game with a great premise but I do have two complaints:

1) - Let me queue up actions while paused, there's no point in having 4 thieves in a heist if I only do the actual heisting with one guy.

2) - As far as the abilities I can see during the intro of the game the thieves will always be basically the same, there's no 'master thief' end-game as the game implies, yeah sure you'll be able to scale walls and jump rooftops but then you do it and you're still cockblocked by a random civilian patrolling the floor, there should be an ability for manipulating people and getting them out of your way.

Also I'm probably playing it wrong but even on the easiest difficulty I'm finding it hard to make money, if I'm lucky I will have items for 5-30 gold which fill up the 3/4 shop slots so I make like 80 gold but the upkeep is 20 so it took me 3/4 days to make 60 gold profit and then factor in my thief recruits which are required for missions & I'm actually losing money overall, the only thing that keeps me afloat is the free storefront in the hideout.

But anyway as long as the devs fix the pause/action issue this will be a much more fun Omerta-type game.. The skins are great, i like them

Beta Patch: Save and Exit:

Hey Gungeoneers,

We're releasing a new beta today on the "beta_public" branch that includes a Save and Exit option at the end of each floor. Please try it out and send any feedback or bugs you find our way (via the Steam Discussions)! For now this beta is only available on Windows and in English, but will be released fully with the Supply Drop update, coming soon!

How do I get it?. another Road Redemption december mini-update:

Changes

Added main volume slider to options menu
Fixed very rare resolution-based crash bug
Fixed bug where motorcycle engines were sometimes inaudible on the first playthrough

More significant holiday updates coming soon. Hotfix update v1.34 live !:

Hotfix update v1.34 (last hotfix after v1.3) notes :

Ameliorations : . Patch Notes 2/26/19:

- Map edit to basement floor of Egypt for more natural scene transition.
- Fixed an issue with potential player character misalignment in Egypt basement.
- Added Escape command to main menu after Dusto joins. Allows you to warp back to your most recently used Beacon, but restores enemies and adds to your fight loss count.
- Fixed some missing flavor text in Haunted HQ.
